LETTER.

From the Rev. Timothy Alden,

Addressed to the Hon. Samuel L. Mitchel, M. D. etc. of N. York.

Meanville, Penn. 21st June, 1816.

DEAR SIR—I now do myself the pleasure to give you an account of a very singular case. Possibly you may have met with something analagous to it in your researches, but so far as my inquiries have extended, it is without a parallel.

Mr. William Reynolds, his wife, and children, a respectable family, originally citizens of Birmingham in G. Britain, settled in the vicinity of Oil Creek, twenty-seven miles from this village, in the year 1797. Miss Mary Reynolds, one of his daughters, a worthy young lady, & an inmate in the family of her brother, John Reynolds, Esq. one of my nearest neighbours, is the subject of this communication, upon which I shall be happy to see your animadversions. For five year she has exhibited the phenomenon of a person vested with a two fold consciousness, or more definitely, with two distinct consciousnesses.

I became acquainted with Miss Reynolds, soon after my removal to this place, in May, 1815, when she was in the exercise of her original consciousness, the last evening of which she spent at my house. The following evening, I was at her brother's, where there was considerable company, of which she was one. To my surprise, when I spoke to her she had no knowledge of me. I was, therefore, introduced to her anew. My curiosity was excited, and it was gratified by a history of her singular case, of which you will please to accept the subsequent concise narrative.

After arriving at adult age, she was occasionally afflicted with fits; but of what particular technical name I have not been able satisfactorily to ascertain.

In the spring of 1811, she had a very severe visitation of this kind. Her frame was greatly convulsed, and she was extremely ill for several days, when her sight and hearing left her, insomuch that she became totally blind and deaf. During twelve weeks, from the time of the fit mentioned, she continued in a very feeble state; but, at the end of five weeks, the use of her visual and auditory faculties was perfectly restored. A more remarkable dispensation of Providence, however, awaited her.

A little before the expiration of the twelve weeks, one morning when she awoke, she appeared to have lost all recollection of every thing, in a manner, she ever knew. Her understanding, with an imperfect knowledge of speech, remained; but her father, mother, brothers, sisters, and neighbors, were altogether strangers to her. She had forgotten the use of written language, and did not know a single letter of the alphabet, nor how to discharge the duties of any domestic employment, more than a new born babe. She, however, presently began to regain various kinds of knowledge.—She continued five weeks in this way, when suddenly she passed from this second state, as for distinction, it may be called, into her first. All consciousness of the five weeks just elapsed, was totally gone, and her original consciousness was fully restored.

Now the cloud, which had overspread her mental hemisphere, was dissipated. Her kindred and friends were at once recognised.—Every kind of knowledge, which she had ever acquired, was as much at her command, as at any former period of her life; but of the time, and of all events which had transpired during her second state, she had not the most distant idea.

For three weeks, to the comfort of herself and of the family, she continued in her first state; but in her sleep the transition was renewed, and she awoke in her second state. As before, so now, all knowledge, acquired in her first state was forgotten, and of the circumstances of her three weeks' lucid interval, she had no conception; but of the small fund of knowledge she had gained in the former second state, she was able to avail herself, and she continued from day to day, to add to this little treasure.

From the spring of 1811, the subject of this address has been in this wonderful condition frequently changing from her first to her second, and from her second to her first state.—More than three quarters of her time, she has been in her second state. There is no periodical regularity as to the transition. Sometimes she continues several months, and sometimes a few weeks, a few days, or only a few hours in her second state; but, in the lapse of five years, she has been, in no one instance, more than 20 days in her first state.

Whatever knowledge she has acquired at any time, in her second state, is familiar to her whenever in that state, and now, she has made such proficiency, she is as well acquainted with things and is in general, as intelligent in her second as in her first state. She has gone through the usual process of learning to read, and takes as much satisfaction in the use of books, in her second as in her first state. It is about three years since an attempt was made to re-teach her chirography. Her brother gave her her name, which she had written, to copy. She readily took a pen agreeably to his request, to write it, though in a very awkward manner, from the right hand to the left, in the Hebrew mode. It was not long before she obtained a tolerable skill in penmanship, and in her second state, often amuses herself in writing poetry; yet in her first state, this is an exercise which she seldom if ever attempts. It may be remarked that she acquires all kinds of knowledge in her second state, with much more facility, than would a person never before instructed.

In her second state, she has now been introduced to many persons, whom she always recognizes, when in that state, and no one appears to enjoy the society of friends better than this young lady; but if ever so well known to her, in her first state, she has no knowledge of them in her second till an acquaintance denovo is formed; and in like manner, all acquaintances formed in her second state must be formed in her first state also, in order to be known in that.

This astonishing transition scores of times repeated, always takes place in her sleep. In passing from her second to her first state, nothing is particulary noticeable in her sleep; but in passing from her first to her second state, her sleep is so profound that no one can wake her, and it not unfrequently continues 18 or 20 hours. She has generally some presentiment of the change, and frequently for several days before the event. Her sufferings, formerly, in the near prospect of the transition, from either state, were extreme. When in one state, she had no conciousness of ever having been in the other; but of the wonderful fact she was persuaded on the representation of her friends. Hence when about to undergo the transition, fearing she should revert so as not to know again in this world, those who are dear to her, her feelings in this respect, were like the feelings of one entering the valey of death—but she has now so often passed from one state to the other, that she does not anticipate the change with that horror, or distressing apprehension, with which, for a considerable time, she used to do.

This young lady is naturally of a cheerful disposition, but thoughtful. In her second state, her imagination glows; her wit is keen; her remaks are often shrewd and satirical, and her prejudices conceived without cause, against her best friends, are sometimes very strong.

I remain, dear sir,
Your respectful humble servant,
TIMOTHY ALDEN.

BOSTON, September 29.

Arrived, the regular trading ship Milo, Glover, 33 days from Liverpool, with a small cargo of goods, crockery, iron, copper, &c. Important Letter.—For the following letter enclosed under the Liverpool date of August 19th, and received this morning by the way of Boston, we are indebted to a very respectable Commercial House in this city.

Liverpool Office,
Westminster, Aug. 13, 1816.

SIR,

A question having arisen whether the equalization of Duties on the produce of United States imported in American and British ships, established by the late Commercial Treaty, ought not to extend to the Auction Duty on the first sale after importation for account of the importer; and a recommendation having been addressed by the Foreign Office and the Board of Council to the Treasury, to adopt that construction of the Treaty most favourable to the ships and products of the United States,—notwithstanding the opinion entertained by some law authorities, that the Auction Duty being an internal and to the parties paying it an optional Duty and not a duty on importation, is not fairly within the meaning of the Treaty; the Lords of the Treasury have this day ordered the Board of Excise to direct their Solicitor to prepare a Bill for the next Session of Parliament to legalize the sale by Auction of American produce imported in American ships on the same terms as if imported in British ships.

And they have further directed the Excise, henceforth, not to require the payment of auction duty on such sales of American produce, and to refund all such duty, if any such shall have been paid since the 26th August, 1815; the parties in both cases giving security for the amount of the duty so unpaid or refused to them, to abide the decision of Parliament.

This latter condition, you will feel, is unavoidable in cases like the present, it being in the competence of Parliament alone to impose or remit Government Duties; and if the nominal liability to the ultimate payment of Auction Duty should have a tendency, as it probably may, to prevent individuals from availing themselves of the indulgence which this order is intended to convey, it must be remembered on the other hand, that there is no instance of the government having failed to redeem such a pledge as is virtually given by the order in question.

I am, with respect, Sir,
Your very faithful and obd't serv't.
J. BACKHOUSE, Jun.

To the chairman of the American Chamber of Commerce.

At Paris, Aug. 21 five per cent consuls 57 f. 20 c. bank actions, 1072 1-2.

The Paris papers mention, that the emperor of Russia is about to interfere in the internal affairs of Wirtemberg, in order to put an end to the dissention between the king and the states.

Extract of a letter from Paris, dated the 20 instant.

"Mr. Wilson, consul of the U. S. at Nantz, had several warm discussions with the commissary, who endeavored to subject the American merchant vessels to minute & vexatious formalities, which materially infringe on all the liberty of commerce. In the heat of argument, the commissary not only arrogantly criticised the supposed tendency of the consul's political opinions, but losing all temper, remonstrated with vehemence against his preserving an eagle at his gates, and enjoined him to have it instantly removed. Mr. Wilson naturally insisted on preserving inviolate the emblematic arms of his country. The commissary, accustomed to passive obedience, sent an armed force, and took down the eagle. The consul forwarded energetic complaints to Paris; the minister deputed an inspector general of police, who, after having investigated the affair, made every proper excuse, when the arms of the United States were solemnly replaced.

Paris, August 14.

Yesterday Madam Gallatin, the lady of the ambassador from the United States, was presented to his majesty, by the Marchioness de Villette and the countess Gaetan de la Rochefoucalt. His majesty spoke to her in English, in the most affectionate manner. Mrs. G. was received with the utmost graciousness by the Duchess of Angouleme.

PROCLAMATION.

Buenos Ayres, July 8.

CITIZENS! When the arms of a nation which is now our friend, invaded this city in the year 1810, you left your occupations to fly to the defence of your country. Throughout the city, and even the villages every man became a soldier, and the undisciplined contended with the veteran for the post of danger. Yourselves, you fought with success, and the country was delivered from a foreign yoke. Now that we have a constituted government of your own choice, I call it warns you of the dangers that threaten us, who will doubt your readiness to meet them?

It has been said that the neighboring Court of Portugal was about to despatch a mysterious expedition directed against the territory of these provinces. Various accounts agree that a short time since an expedition of 3000 men left Rio Janeiro, which, it appears, was to be reinforced with another body of 3000, previously organized at St. Catalina, to usurp at least the Eastern Shore of this river. The conduct of that cabinet, by no means frank, and the little interest it has manifested to contradict the public report announcing its plans, form a powerful argument to justify our suspicions. The government reposes, as far as prudence will permit, upon the sanctity of the treaties of 1812, and more than all upon the friendly conduct which it has always observed towards the monarch of Brazil and his subjects—Peace between the countries remains guaranteed out of respect for England: but if abusing this security, that foreign expedition dare to profane our territory, it is just, it is necessary it should be made to feel the effects of our courage and our strength. In the mean time the Sovereign National Congress, and the Supreme Director of the State, have received the details of that serious occurrence, and this government has communicated to them all that has come to its knowledge.

Whilst we remain in this delicate position, and until some formal act of aggression be committed on the part of His Faithful Majesty, our natural interest is to take every precaution that can tend to make our power respectable, and to frustrate the machinations of those that aspire to destory it. On this head we are all of one accord, and prudence shall be my guide.

Citizens! Your valor has never been unshaken.—Once have you sworn to be free, and your enemies have had occasion to feel the force of that oath. The provinces of La Plata have been invincible in all the invasions hitherto; the phalanxes of your adversaries have always found their graves on our coast, without being able to penetrate into the country, and our history is decorated with laurels and trophies. Will you suffer it to be stained in our days? Prepare for unanimous and heroic resistance; let every one who has the honor to belong to this land, devote himself to the defence of it. In any event, the foreigners shall see that we are not sleeping, and they shall have to respect our virtue, our zeal and courage. Those citizens who have not a fixed post in the militia, will place themselves by the side of their companions in civic legions. Let but one voice be heard, and let it be repeated by thousands of echoes to the remote extremity of the provinces at the sound of it let every heart be inflamed—the country is in danger—let us save it.

ALEXANDRIA:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5.

MR. LEWIS' SUCCESSOR.

The Federal Republicans of Fairfax County, are requested to meet at the Court-House, on Monday the 14th inst. for the purpose of selecting four delegates to represent them in a convention of the counties of Loudoun, Prince William and Fairfax, proposed to be held at Centreville on the 22d instant, to recommend to the district, a suitable successor to their present representative, the Hon. J. Lewis.

It is not to be inferred, because the Legislature of this State are to meet three weeks before the ordinary time, that the law obliging the banks to pay specie will be repealed. The call will occasion little or no inconvenience, and those who now think the law will be repealed will not have occasion to complain, and say that it would have been repealed had the Assembly been in session.

Very different opinions are however held on the subject. On one side it is said, that there is no circumstance of much importance, not foreseen when the law was passed, which ought to occasion its repeal that for the January instalment of the U. S. Bank the subscribers, or stockholders, have specie in possession, or have made other calculations for obtaining it, even from the banks of Virginia, as they certainly must have had doubts whether or not it could be so obtained; that even if they should procure Virginia Notes and demand the specie, the sum demanded would be too small to affect the banks injuriously; that the Directors of the banks have long been preparing to pay specie and are now provided; that in consequence of the expected payment of specie the value of the notes have risen almost to a par with gold and silver, and by a repeal the value would fall; that further accidents in discounts will be unnecessary, as that merchants will not, on this account, be injured; that to repeal the law would show great fickleness in the legislature; that most of the Western members will certainly oppose a repeal; that the directory do not, like the banks of Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, hold forth on paper for which they cannot obtain specie; that, when it is known that specie can be had nobody will prefer it to bills, that specie is not wanted to be sent to the East Indies or elsewhere from the country; that, should there, for a few days, be a run on the bank, the banks are amply provided for such an event; that for the advantage of the community at large, as well as for the credit and eventual advantage of the stockholders, no repeal ought to take place, &c. &c.

On the other side it is said that other banks refusing specie, the Virginia banks will be drained of theirs, that a repeal is demanded by circumstances that have occurred since the law past: the subject has been discussed in private circles & newspapers, and some are in favour of a repeal.

MONITORIAL.

John Lee, who was executed for forgery, became an infidel, through reading the elegant, but sophistical, writings of David Hume. Deeply, however, did he repent his folly, when he was in distressed circumstances. "I leave to the world," said he, in a letter to a friend the night before his execution, "this mournful memento, that however much a man may be favored by personal qualifications, or distinguished by mental endowments, genius will be useless and abilities avail but little, unless accompanied by a sense of religion, and attended by the practice of virtue."

Chinese method of mending China.

Take a piece of flint glass, beat it to a fine powder, and grind it well with the white of an egg, and it joins China without rivetting, so that no art can break it in the same place. You are to observe that the composition is to be ground extremely fine on a painter's stone.

Something of the Curious.—On Wednesday one of our scientific anglers, Mr. Ellis, brought in 3 fish upon one hook, the largest a fine bass, weighing about 6 pounds. The hook had been baited with a small live chub, which was swallowed by a bass of about 1-2 or 3-4 of a pound weight; and the whole swallowed by the large fish, leaving the tail of the small bass projecting from its mouth. This spectacle establishes a fact in natural history, we believe, not generally known that the voracity of this fish induces it to devour its own species.

SQUIRRELS.—Great numbers of Squirrels are daily killed in and about this village, with clubs, stones, &c. They appear to be moving to the South. The fences are literally covered with them. Hundreds are daily slain by boys. We understand, that in 1803, they moved similarly, to the North, probably owing to the scarcity of Nuts, which the Squirrel subsists upon thro' winter.

From Late London Papers.

A new method has been lately adopted in all the King's dock yards, with regard to the means of preserving such ships as may in future be built and repaired. It consists in the whole of the ships on the stocks, or in docks, being completely under cover by means of a large and spacious shed being erected over them, to keep off the effects of the sun and weather, windows and sky lights are placed on each side and the top, by which, at all times a free circulation of air can take place, and the men employed are kept dry.

A person in Alston, who has for some years followed the trade of a Barber, recently opened a spirit shop; when, to the no small admiration and amusement of his acquaintance, he hoisted over his door the following appropriate lines.

Rove not from pole to pole but here turn in,
Where naught excels the shaving but the gin.

A Manchester paper says—"Last week as the story goes, a couple of friends called at the public house of Mr. Ogden, at Blockley; and whilst regaling themselves, a dog belonging to one of them came suddenly in, and droped at his master's feet a bundle, containing a quantity of Bank notes. both instantly stooped to pick it up; but the owner of the dog failed in getting possession of it, and the other securing it, pleads the title of better fortune to justify his claim to detention. whilst the other asserts his right, from the agency of his dumb steward, and has already made it the subject of legal enquiry. Rumour has swelled the amount of the notes to 1500 pounds; and what is singular, no person in the quality of owner, has yet come forward to settle the dispute."

From the Leesburg Washingtonian.

DEPARTED this life on Thursday the 5th day September, in the 35th year of her age, Mrs. Nancy Orrison, consort of Mr. Abel Orrison of this town, daughter of Capt. James Hamilton of the same place: and on the 8th inst. her child 12 years old died, and was enterred in the same grave with its mother. Early in life when but a girl Mrs. Orrison embraced that religion which was her support and comfort in death: she was amongst the first subjects of that memorial revival in this town and neighbourhood, in the winter and spring of 1802 and 3, which probably many will remember, with inconceivable transport. through the never ending ages of a happy immortality: She had a strong and clear evidence of her acceptance, which she never lost, regular and constant in her attendance on public worship, as well as private duties, she possessed a fervency in devotion with which all christians are not favoured, and against which some are ready to object. In singing the songs of Zion, in which she much delighted, she frequently enjoyed the overflowings of divine love; and was not ashamed in the presence of hundreds to shout aloud the redeemers praise, and with outstretched arms to invite all to "come, and taste, and see, how good the Lord is." Some are disposed to ascribe extacies of joy in religious exercises to enthusiasm the best and wisest are liable to mistakes and perhaps in nothing more than in this matter; let her patient resignation under affliction; let her triumphant and victorious death, attest the validity, and genuineness of her religious experience; let it likewise demonstrate the transcendent excellency of the christian religion & exempt such as are sincerely influenced from the like uncharitable imputations—There was nothing gloomy or superstitious in Mrs. Orrison's character, she was cheerful without levity affable & agreeable in conversation; ready with meekness to give a reason of the hope she possessed, which hope was founded upon the never failing rock Christ Jesus—hence when the tempestuous storm of death came, she had nothing to fear: with the greatest composure, and with a sublimity of thought and expression, like inspirations from heaven, she addressed exhortations to all who visited her, adapted to their different circumstances; not forgetting an absent brother, "tell him to seek, and never rest until the Lord shall come the second time to full salvation." With a placid serenity of countenance, on the brink of time, looking into eternity, she bid farewell to weeping relations and attending friends; thus she fell asleep in Jesus, in whose peaceful kingdom she now rests; let the animating anticipation of meeting her, where affliction, separation and death can no more molest solace and comfort the bereft husband, parents and friends—may her dying admonitions be attended by the energies of divine grace.

PRINTING

Neatly executed at the Office of the Alexandria Gazette.

JAMES KENNEDY & SON,

BOOKSELLERS, KING STREET,

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT MEDICINE Store, No. 46 Maiden Lane, N. York,

A FRESH SUPPLY

Of the following genuine Medicines.

For the prevention and cure of Yellow Fever and Malignant Fevers, is recommended

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor a feelings, in several parts of the West Indies, and the Southern & Middle States, particularly in N. York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons at each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe, that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives, when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertion.

It is not, indeed, presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these Pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate, and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile & prevent it morbid secretions—to restore & amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which is so often of fatal consequence. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of, as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent, and is also mild in its operation, cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels, of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

DESCRIPTION OF WORMS.

And the symptoms by which they are known:

Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz.—The Teres, or large round worm; the Ascarides, or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm; and lastly, the Tænia, or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long, and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious; purging, with slimy & fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever, with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success, in all complaints similar to those above described.
